Mr Chacko,

My thanks for communicating your concerns to me over my use of your photo and date of birth on my website, elijahthomaschacko.info. I received the ICO proforma letter sent by your daughter Ruth Mary. I understand that you feel I obtained and published your photograph and birthdate unlawfully. I would like to politely remind you that we have personally known each other for ten years and that during that period I have several times congratulated you on your birthday and made reference to your age. I also possess several photos of you which I took myself and with your implied consent. The particular photo you refer to was not to my best knowledge obtained unlawfully.

I am not unaware of my obligations under the General Data Protection Regulations and to ensure that your rights are not breached, have also been in direct contact with the UK Information Commissioner's Office. The legislation you cite concerning my obligations does not apply because I am a natural person and not an organisation, and the information was handled during the course of purely personal and household activity.

If you feel that I have not answered to your satisfaction, please do go ahead and report your concern to the ICO. I would be grateful if you would acknowledge receipt of this letter.

Yours sincerely, Dr Daniel Harper.
